The happy couple, accompanied by a host of their friends, repaired to the residence of "Uncle" Neil Trailor, on Friday evening, and, part and parcel of a beautiful feast of good things which abounded in an old-fashioned Kentucky farm-house, for a repast from the pot of many a kindred home, and we hope much good will result from the visit.

Matriarchal.

We were invited to present and enjoy the occasion, but important duties rendered it impossible to attend. May these who have assumed the title of matronly remember that "Love at home" insures happiness.

Other and Brother.

We seldom turn aside to notice in this pointed way the business of our friends, but the popularity of this far-dealing store and hardware houses is well deserved, that we can not forbear making special and pointed notice of their business.

These gentlemen are successors to Harvey & Gifford, a well-known and successful carriage trade, but which the Messrs. Chase have filled in Central and Southern Kentucky. Their interests in this country is ably represented by Mr. Lance Cund, formerly of Somerset, whom we do not travel for any house a clever or more reliable gentleman. Messrs. O. & E. Chase are manufacturers and wholesale and retail dealers in stoves, grates, castings, copper, tin and sheet-iron, ware, hardware, hardware, coffee-mills, scales, etc., and are perfectly reliable every way; and to our retail merchants and others wishing goods in this line, we heartily commend them. Their goods always turn out as represented, while their prices are lower than any house we know.

Too Much Talk, or Something?

In regard to the way our pastor and his assistant attend to our personal affairs as officers of the Government, but indicate the verdict of everybody, when we are so often in this Commonwealth is better conducted; but that there are hitches in the line of mail between this place and Louisville and Lexington, and other points, is equally certain. When we take letters longer to come from Lexington here than from New York, here we know there is a screw loose somewhere. We invite the attention of the Superintendent of this Division to these irregularities.

Influence.

A great many of our citizens are, and have been, afflicted with the influenza, which is a mild type of the horse disease, as we verily believe.

are compelled to acknowledge that he is bright, and hope that unless similarly situated will follow his example. Take your county paper, if you are unable to take more than one journal.

We have no complaint to make about the manner in which our village authorities meet up the affairs thereof, but we would suggest that if the ordinances compelling owners of property fronting on our streets and alleys more firmly enforced, the pedestrians would not be compelled to walk in mud and filth. The health of any city of even greatly exceeds that of the citizens of its parishes let us then, take care of themselves.
